Late Jawaharlal Chawla
Founder, J.J. Food Industries

In 1947, the Chawla brothers made a momentous journey from Sindh, bringing with them an unwavering determination and an unyielding work ethic. Among them were two brothers, Jawaharlal and Jairamdas Chawla, who possessed a strong entrepreneurial spirit and a profound understanding of food and condiments. Seizing an opportunity, they embarked on a pickle-making venture in 1950, setting up their enterprise in Udaipur, and soon became renowned as the most beloved pickle producers in Rajasthan.

In 1985, the younger brother, Jairamdas, in collaboration with his sons, Vijay and Mukesh, took a significant step and founded J.J. Food Industries in Ahmedabad. Throughout the past 35 years, the brothers have remained relentless in their pursuit of producing hygienic, fresh, and flavorful food products. Their unwavering commitment to quality has propelled their brand, 'Madhur,' to prominence, earning it a distinguished position in the food industry.
